Purposeful sustainability work

Orkla strives to stand out positively in the eyes of consumers, customers, partners, employees, shareholders and the communities that we are a part of, and we play a crucial role in promoting sustainable production and consumption. Orkla works resolutely to ensure sustainable raw material production, develop sustainable packaging and reduce the climate footprint of its products. Orkla also seeks to contribute to a healthier lifestyle by improving the nutritional profile of its food products and developing new health innovations and future-oriented foods.

Acquisitions

Strategically appropriate acquisitions will remain a key element of Orkla's growth strategy and value creation model. This is combined with active portfolio management aimed at reducing complexity.

Through acquisitions, Orkla aims to strengthen its operations in selected geographical areas, channels or categories where we can win leading positions based on the Group's core competencies.

Our brands and innovation

Brands

A brand is a concept that describes a set of associations, qualities and attributes that are linked to a product or a service. 8 million Orkla products are sold every day. Our brands play different roles for people in different situations, and they are chosen over and over again – because the consumer trusts them. A brand is a promise given and a promise kept.

The foundation for a strong brand lies in an effective, updated positioning, which serves as a guiding star for all brand activities. Good positioning defines the brand's role in the category, is based on local consumer insight and meets relevant consumer needs. Orkla's ambition is to create brands people love.

Innovation

Innovation is Orkla's primary tool for creating growth, and is therefore pivotal to Orkla's day-to-day operations. Orkla's innovation activities are based on an inter-professional focus that spans from idea to launch. Consumer, customer and market insight is combined with technological expertise and investments to develop products and solutions that delight consumers and meet their needs in an even better way.

Orkla has two main sources of growth through innovation: innovation in the form of new products in new or associated categories, or innovation in categories in which Orkla already holds strong positions. Creating new growth platforms to supplement Orkla's current activities is also a key priority area.

Orkla works on a broad front to identify innovation opportunities, across both specialised departments and countries, while also collaborating with suppliers and external innovation and research centres. Orkla's strength lies in its local connections, which give it in-depth insight into local consumer needs and how this knowledge can be translated into powerful innovations.

At the core of all innovation work lies the actual user experience, ranging from taste and function to how intuitive and easy a product is to use. Health and environmental aspects are also important drivers of innovation. Priority areas for innovation at Orkla are "Taste and Sensory Experience", "Health and Nutrition", "Sustainability and Environment" and "Packaging Innovation".

In the coming years, efforts will be focused continuously on ensuring that Orkla's local brands are consumers' first choice by improving everyday life with sustainable and enjoyable local brands.

Our factories

Orkla has a total of 114 production facilities located in various places in the Nordics, Central Europe and Asia.

The products manufactured at our multitude of factories range from pizza, ready-to-eat meals, soups, chocolate, biscuits, snacks and bread toppings to dietary supplements, soap, detergents, skin care products, paintbrushes and much more. Each factory has its own unique history, and many have a long tradition of manufacturing branded consumer goods. In several of the places where we have production operations, our factories are an important workplace in the local community.

Sustainability is a key focus for our factories, which work to lower greenhouse gas emissions by cutting their energy consumption, and a number of factories have switched to using renewable energy. Water use has also been decreased and efforts have been made to reduce food wastage and other waste from production.

Over 100 of Orkla's 114 factories manufacture food products. These factories must comply with stringent food safety requirements laid down in the Orkla Foods Safety Standard (OFSS).
